DETAILED ACTION

The Reply filed by Applicants on 06/07/2010 is hereby acknowledged. However, the amendment to the claims has introduced numerous SEQ ID NOs that were not originally presented in the claims, requiring a restriction requirement to be set forth as set forth below. Upon the election of a SEQ ID NO, the claims will be examined on the merits.

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Database size and resource allocations at the PTO are such that examination of more than one sequence on the merits in the instant application would present a sever burden on PTO resources.

Applicant is required to select a single nucleotide sequence from the claimed nucleotide sequences (SEQ ID NO:1 or 2 or 3 or 24 or 25 or 26 or 37 or 38 or 39 or 51 or 52). Upon election of a sequence, the claims that read upon the sequence will be examined accordingly. Distinctly different DNA sequences are structurally distinct chemical compounds and are deemed to normally constitute independent and distinct inventions within the meaning of 35 U.S.C. 121. Absent evidence to the contrary, each such nucleotide sequence is presumed to represent an independent and distinct invention, subject to a restriction requirement pursuant to 35 U.S.C. 121 and 37 CFR 1.141 et seq.

Applicant is required to elect a Group above representing a single nucleotide sequence. Electing a sequence is not to be construed as a requirement for an election of species, since each nucleotide sequence is not a member of a single genus of invention, but constitutes an independent and patentably distinct invention.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

It is noted, that while the Office is not required to show a search burden regarding national stage applications, that the above explanation is given to clarify the Office's position on searching multiple sequences. The above sequences are linked by the technical feature of being centromere sequences, however this feature is not special because it does not constitute an advancement over the prior art. Ananiev et al (1998 PNAS 95:13073-13078) teach the centromeric repeat Cent C (see page 13074 2nd column, for example). Accordingly, the inventions as grouped above in separate SEQ ID NOs lack unity of invention and restriction is therefore proper.

Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;

- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
